Dear friends,

Habitat for Humanity of Eagle and Lake Counties is proud of many accomplishments in 2008 as considerable progress was made in providing simple, decent, affordable housing to our community. We are pleased to highlight several of the program areas which made significant gains last year.

CONSTRUCTION: Habitat completed two homes in Eagle and four homes in Edwards. Our building capacity increased as we implemented a professional builder program. Eight local building companies partnered with Habitat to provide expertise and construction management. We are grateful for the support and guidance offered by:

- J.L. Viele Construction
- Gregg & Co. Builders
- R.A. Nelson & Associates
- Beck Building Company
- Boles Construction
- George Schaeffer Construction
- Vail Custom Builders
- Hermes Resort Properties

In addition, we’re pleased to report that our local Habitat is the first Habitat affiliate in the State to build LEED certified homes. This certification is a point based system for incorporating green building and energy efficient practices into our houses. Furthermore, Habitat has leveraged consulting relationships and specific grants to offset any incremental costs.

FAMILY SELECTION: Just as in 2007, in 2008 we selected five highly qualified families with whom we will partner to build a home. The applicant pool was large – over 40 families – and we were thankful for the diligence and dedication of our Family Selection Committee as they evaluated each application. The latest five families are currently performing their “sweat equity” requirements and are looking forward to moving into their new homes.

HABITAT HOME OUTLET: In keeping with our commitment to the environment, the Habitat Home Outlet store in Gypsum is promoting the recycling of building materials and household items. In 2008, the Outlet diverted an estimated 286 tons of materials from the landfill. In addition, the net proceeds from the store are dedicated to providing support for Habitat programs and operations.

FUNDRAISING: On the fundraising front, we had a very successful Carpenters’ Ball which netted close to $250,000. In addition, the Bachelor Gulch Home Partnership completed their goal of raising $125,000 to build a home for the Katz family. We were quite successful in writing specific grant requests, showing a significant increase in the number of gifts received.

VOLUNTEERS: In 2008 643 volunteers contributed a total of 6,972 hours towards home construction and the operation of our Habitat Home Outlet store. Habitat extends its sincere appreciation for your generous donations which enable us to continue our work. The mission is one of great importance to this Valley, as we build homes with working families in need.

Sincerely,

Barbara Scrivens
President

John Welaj
Executive Director
Mission of hope

Habitat for Humanity builds simple, decent and affordable homes in partnership with families in need.

Addressing a critical need

Since our affiliate opened its doors in 1995 we have focused on creating low income housing opportunities for working families in Eagle and Lake Counties. Since our founding 13 years ago, Habitat for Humanity of Eagle and Lake Counties has completed 23 homes: housing 23 families and more than 70 children. By 2010, we plan to increase this to 35 homes improving the lives of over 100 children.

THERE’S NO PLACE LIKE HOME...

On December 19 2008 Habitat for Humanity of Eagle and Lake Counties welcomed four families home just in time to celebrate the holidays. This celebration and home dedication was an important milestone for our affiliate as well as for Habitat for Humanity across the state of Colorado. These four homes kicked off a statewide campaign to build 1000 Habitat homes by Colorado affiliates over the next three years.

Habitat affiliates in Colorado have collectively completed 1000 homes over the last 30 years, allowing 5000 people to have a safe, decent, affordable place to call home.

Dear Habitat supporters,

One of the most difficult things in the world to do is attempt to express gratitude and appreciation for a gift so important and valuable. Habitat for Humanity makes dreams come true. It produces miracles.

You have provided much more than the opportunity for us to have a home for our families. You have provided inspiration and hope for us to build a better life. Not only have you provided us with the opportunity to own a home, but you have also given us a challenge that we will spend the rest of our lives trying to meet.

How do we repay this kind of generosity? How do we give back to our community? All we can do is deeply instill the concept in our children that service and caring for others should be part of everything they do.

The dedication and commitment that all of those who have volunteered their time have shown is a true inspiration for all of us and our families. In today’s economy, with so many people struggling, the dedication we have seen in all the volunteers is even more meaningful.

Our deepest gratitude,

The Lopez, Katz, Lopez-Loera and Morales families

Four Homeowners at Fox Hollow
CONSTRUCTION UPDATE

2008 marked the kick off of a new, creative program to increase our building capacity—the Professional Builder Program is making a difference in more ways than one. The program allowed us to go from building one to two homes per year to four to six homes, and it is bringing more community members together to work for a common purpose. As a result, Habitat is striving to complete the 16 unit Fox Hollow development by the end of 2010.

Eight local building companies; J.L. Viele Construction, Gregg & Co Builders, RA Nelson & Associates, Beck Building Company, Boles Construction, George Shaeffer Construction, Vail Custom Builders and Hermes Resort Properties, who normally compete with each other for top dollar construction business are participating in this program. Each builder is responsible for working with our construction manager on budgeting, scheduling and the overall execution of one duplex. Through their connections within the building industry, these builders are also able to leverage their expertise, buying power and subcontractor relationships.

In 2008 J.L. Viele and Gregg & Co each built one duplex. RA Nelson & Associates started their project and estimate completing it in Summer 2009.

Building simple, decent, affordable…and now green homes

HFHELC is the first affiliate in the State of Colorado to build LEED certified homes. This certification is a point-based system for incorporating green building and energy efficient practices into the home. The Fox Hollow project uses SIP’s (Structurally Insulated Panels), R-50 attic insulation, raised heel trusses, shallow frost protected foundations, 90% efficient water heaters, energy efficient appliances and more to qualify for the LEED Silver Level. Homeowners will realize a savings of 40-60% on their monthly utility bills. Furthermore, HFHELC has been able to leverage donations and relationships, including fully donated consulting and testing services by Active Energies to realize our goal of LEED certification. We want to redefine “simple, decent and affordable” to mean “functional, energy efficient, healthy and affordable”, something all our Habitat families deserve.

FAMILY SERVICES

Giving homeowners a foundation for life

In 2008 local community organizations assisted Habitat in improving our first time homeowner and self sufficiency counseling by donated their time and expertise to support Habitat families throughout the home ownership process. Six families successfully completed this program in 2008.

As a prerequisite for their selection, Habitat families are required to attend homeowner education classes aimed at making the transition into home ownership successful. The comprehensive homeowner education curriculum covers a range of responsibilities, including money management and budgeting, mortgage and financial literacy, home maintenance, landscaping, and how to be a good neighbor. Organizations like BOLD Real Estate Solutions, the CSU Cooperative Extension, Colorado Mountain College and the High County Human Resources Alliance (“HCHRA”) have stepped up to help Habitat families prepare for and succeed in the new world of homeownership by conducting some of the education classes.

In addition to supporting current families, Habitat was thrilled to welcome five new partner families into our organization in December of 2008. The family selection committee evaluated just over 40 applications for five homes in a six month long process.

2008 BY THE NUMBERS

| Number of homes completed | 6 |
| Homes currently under construction (as of Jan 09) | 2 |
| Number of families educated in our first-time homeownership and self sufficiency counseling program | 6 |
| Number of new families selected to participate in the Habitat program | 5 |
HOME PARTNERSHIPS

The Community Partnership Program was created in 2004 to increase volunteerism, teamwork, and funding capacity for Habitat homes. Since that time Habitat for Humanity of Eagle and Lake Counties has worked with residential communities, organizations and other affiliations to sponsor the construction of homes in the Eagle Valley.

In 2008, the communities of Vail and Bachelor Gulch celebrated the completion of their sponsored homes and saw each of their partner families officially become first time homeowners. The community of Lake Creek celebrated the halfway mark for their fundraising effort with a roof raising on the third building at Fox Hollow in November of 2008. They anticipate finishing their campaign in the summer of 2009. The community of Eagle Ranch is raising funds for the fourth building at Fox Hollow. A ground breaking on that building will occur in June of 2009. Habitat for Humanity is very grateful for the leadership and support that each of these communities provides our organization.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Toolbelts & Tiara’s 9th Annual Carpenters’ Ball

The Carpenters’ Ball is our signature annual fundraising event and an opportunity for all who support Habitat for Humanity to come together and celebrate successes and raise additional funds for home construction in Eagle County.

On Saturday March 8 2008 over 400 guests enjoyed an evening of auctions, dinner and dancing to the Don Watson Band at the Park Hyatt Beaver Creek. Thanks to our sponsors, donors, and guests, the Carpenters’ Ball was a huge success netting close to $250,000

Golf Event

Habitat for Humanity of Eagle and Lake Counties was proud to host one of the first charity events at Adam’s Mountain Country Club in August of 2008 – the Habitat Invitational, presented by Colorado Capital Bank, was an opportunity for 72 Habitat supporters to come out and enjoy the beautiful scenery and brand new course offered by Adam’s Rib Ranch.

GRANTS

In 2008 Habitat significantly increased our number of grant requests. We were successfully funded from a variety of groups at both a local and regional level. In addition, our local Habitat affiliate received grant funding from Habitat of Colorado. By fostering relationships nationally and across the state, Habitat of Colorado is able to access funds for all affiliates in Colorado to increase construction capacity.

Thank you 2008 Grantors:

“It’s a good learning experience for everyone to get involved in this – to lay a foundation for giving back to the community. You get a great feeling from being able to contribute to someone’s happiness”

JIM GREGG, PROFESSIONAL BUILDER AND BACHELOR GULCH CLUB MEMBER
Habitat Home Outlet

The Habitat Home Outlet store in Gypsum promotes re-use of building materials, appliances and household items. The Outlet serves the community in a variety of ways and is a source of funding for home construction and operations, netting approximately $35,000 in 2008.

The Outlet sells all donations for 1/4 of the retail price, saving customers thousands of dollars. Habitat estimates that roughly 286 tons of material was diverted from the Eagle County Landfill in 2008.

Gross revenue from the Habitat Home Outlet was $431,908. This number represents a 9.5% increase from the previous year. We also dedicated time and resources to improve the capital infrastructure of the Store. The Habitat Home Outlet had expenses of $397,211.

The Outlet also provides volunteer opportunities beyond our construction projects. In May 2008 Vail Resorts/Rock Resorts graciously donated over 70 hotel rooms of furniture to the Outlet. This was the largest single donation we have ever received in our nearly five years of operation. We were able to see our great community come together to make this donation happen. Trucks and storage space were donated by local furniture stores and moving companies. Many different volunteer groups came out to help from middle schools to churches to the Rock Resorts executive team. Everyone pushed furniture on dollies to help Habitat for Humanity. The end result was a great community benefit – valuable home furnishings available at bargain prices.

The Habitat Home Outlet is an earned income stream for Habitat for Humanity and provides a well rounded, diverse way to serve within our community. All proceeds from the Outlet are reinvested into the mission of Habitat for Humanity – to build simple, decent, affordable homes in partnership with families in need.
FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Where we stand

In 2008, revenue from all sources excluding the Home Outlet totaled $1,249,288. Contributions from individuals, home partnerships, businesses, and other organizations were $232,388. Income from grants was $43,131 and represented gifts from 13 different sources. Habitat has made significant strides in researching and writing grants and expects this number to increase in subsequent years.

The sale of homes to families comprised $669,000, nearly double the amount from the previous year. This number is directly related to building capacity and the pace of construction. The net income from the Carpenters’ Ball was close to $250,000.

Annual expenses for 2008 were $1,330,258. The administrative and fundraising expenses were 5% and 10% of the total, respectively. The "Habitat Mission" expense represents the core mission of Habitat for Humanity. This category is comprised of home construction, volunteer coordination, and family services.

Volunteer thanks

Habitat for Humanity is a volunteer driven organization. We would not be able to accomplish our mission without a wide base of volunteer support. In 2008 643 volunteers contributed a total of 6,927 hours to the construction of homes and in work at the Habitat Home Outlet. While home building is the most obvious achievement, the greatest reward is the sense of hope and accomplishment that changes the lives of our Habitat families forever.
