SEPTEMBER SURGES WITH BUILD DAYS

Vail Resorts employee rolls out sod

September is historically one of Habitat Vail Valley's busiest months for volunteers! This month alone, we had 8 build days with volunteer groups. Four of these build days were with the Vail Resorts Build Week. Vail Resorts has been a powerful supporter of Habitat Vail Valley for many years and one of the ways they do this is through volunteerism. This year alone, VR brought out over 70 employees that contributed more than 475 hours to our Stratton Flats jobsite. The team helped us nearly complete landscaping on both Phases 10 and 11. They planted 12 trees, 72 shrubs, and over 10,000 square feet of sod. They also dug nearly 75 fence post holes and started the construction of our back & privacy fences as well as front gates. The most remarkable part truly was their attitude. It is hard to find a team with so much positivity amongst such hard work! Thank you, Vail Resorts Team!

Our volunteers make such a strong impact on the jobsite and make what we do possible. Volunteers tackle everything from framing, to painting, to landscaping. If you're interested in volunteering yourself or bringing a group, reach out to volunteer coordinator Cassie, at cassie@habitatvailvalley.org.

THANK YOU, VAIL RESORTS!

LANDSCAPING NEARLY COMPLETE

Landscaping is almost done on the newly moved-into homes of Phase 10 as well as the homes under construction in Phase 11. This was made possible by our amazing construction partners Plantivity and Rivendell Distribution. Plantivity, owned by locals Stefan and Katy Hiatt, has been generously donating plants and shrubs free of charge for Habitat homes for over a decade. Their care for our families and ability to beautify our neighborhoods is remarkable! Rivendell Distribution has been providing deeply discounted planting materials such as sod and mulch for many years. They work with us to best utilize our volunteers! Thanks to Plantivity and Rivendell Distribution for your generosity!

PHASE 11 INTO FINISHES

Crew Leader Sam priming walls

This month, we also began finishes on the first building in Phase 11. Drywall was successfully hung and textured by Esmeralda Drywall, a longtime partner and supporter of Habitat. The team then moved onto priming all of the drywall. We are now ready for interior doors and trim to be installed!

THANK YOU!
